ASPHER Director, Robert Otok welcomed the over 300 delegates to the event and activities included a career fair organised by SEEEPHI Partner University of Haifa; a series of problem-based learning workshops by Kasia Czabanowska from SEEEPHI partner University of Maastricht and a SEEEPHI workshop presenting the work of the project and all work packages.

ASPHER-WHO/EURO Task Force on Professionalising the Public Health Workforce

Organiser: ASPHER and WHO Europe

Ongoing

Description: The Public Health Workforce Professionalisation (PPHW-TF) is pivotal to raising awareness and recognition of the public health profession in the European Region and globally. It is centred around such topics as: public health employment outcomes, licencing and credentialing, public health job taxonomy, public health workforce development and planning, public health education at graduate and post graduate levels including continuing professional development (CPD) training, public health codes of ethics and professional conduct, enumeration and professional self-government. More specifically, the field focuses also on capacity building, competency-based education and training, systematic development of competency frameworks, competency development, self-assessment methods and identification of skill gaps for the provision of essential public health operations. The field is system specific, dependent on the stakeholders and governance structures. The Task Force is co-led by ASPHER past-President Kasia Czabanowska and WHO/EURO Director of Country Health Policies & Systems Natasha Azzopardi Muscat. Website: <https://www.aspher.org/pphw-tf.html>

Ongoing

Description: This is a major body of work to increase national workforce capacity to implement essential public health functions (EPHFs), including emergency preparedness and response. Work is progressing at pace on five workstrands: 1) EPHFs; 2) Competency-based education; 3) Mapping and measurement of occupations; 4) The communications strategy, 5) Global developments and partnerships strand.

Survey on Public health competencies: what does the next generation of professionals deem important?

Organiser: EUPHA and ASPHER

Dates: May-August 2023

Description: To adequately address many complex societal challenges, the public health workforce needs to learn new competencies. It is of particular interest to know what young people consider important in this regard, as they represent the future generation of public health professionals. Public health students and early career professionals in Europe were asked by means of an online questionnaire which of the competencies included in the 2020 WHO-ASPHER Competency Framework for the Public Health Workforce in the European Region they deemed most important for their future careers, and how well prepared they felt to execute these competencies in practice. Publication in press.

ASPHER NEXT GENERATION PLATFORM

ASPHER Young Professionals Programme

Organiser: ASPHER

Ongoing

Description: The ASPHER Young Professionals Programme is made up of public health early career professionals affiliated with ASPHER Member Schools. The YPP is an opportunity to join a supportive community of other young public health professionals, and provides the potential to join research collaborations with researchers from around the world.

The goal of the YPP programme is to incorporate public health students and professionals early in their career with the ASPHER network. The programme does this by: Building a network within the YPs that is maintained through monthly meetings and provides a medium for advice, feedback, and future collaboration; and incorporating YPs into ASPHER research collaborations to provide opportunities to gain relevant experience. YPs are expected to engage in monthly YPP meetings and actively participate in ASPHER research projects for a minimum of one year.

Membership is determined through an annual application intake period. is invited to apply to the ASPHER Young Professionals Programme (YPP). The 2023 cohort was made up of 15 YPs. The application period for the 2024 intake was open from September-December 2023. The Programme is led by ASPHER Executive Board Member Ines Siepmann.

ASSETS Mentoring Summer School

Organiser: ASPHER

Dates: 03-06 July 2023

Location: Brussels, Belgium

Description: Held for 1 week each year, the Andrija Stampar Summer Educational & Tutoring School (ASSETS) offers an exclusive educational mentoring programme tailored to initiate fruitful learning experiences. ASSETS seeks to strengthen public health professionals in their field of expertise and professional identity through the concept of career mentoring from distinguished and recognized experts in the field of public health.

Instead of a classical school with multiple lectures, each participant brings a schematic idea, about a practical experience, project, thesis or career challenge within the public health and/or health system scope that can be presented in class in front of the experts and their peers. These presentations thus create the input of the subsequent real-world problem based mentoring session.

The first edition of ASSETS was run in 2019. Due to Covid restrictions, modified online and hybrid ASSETS meetings were held during 2020-2022. ASSETS returned to its original in-person format in 2023. Programme: <https://www.aspher.org/download/1429/assets-2023-programme.pdf>

ASPHER Young Researchers Forum at the EPH Conference

Organiser: ASPHER and EUPHA

Date: 08 November 2023

Location EPH Pre-conference, Dublin, Ireland

Description: The Forum represents a unique opportunity for young researchers to present their work to a select audience of peers and key representatives of the European public health community. It has been designed to provide young researchers with the opportunity to present your work in a friendly, supportive forum and to receive feedback from mentors and peers.

CORE COMPETENCIES AND CURRICULUM

ASPHER Core Curriculum Programme

Organiser: ASPHER

Dates: Summer 2022-2024

Description: In Summer 2022 ASPHER began its review of public health core curriculum as a vital capacity and curriculum building project. Development of core public health competencies has been a common theme within ASPHER's operations since 2006. In 2022, it was agreed that a new direction was required. The Core Curriculum Programme strives to address the new normal which has enveloped the public health landscape after the global pandemic of COVID-19 and other crises.

ASPHER's vision of sustainable capacity-building in public health is more important than ever in the context of current population health challenges and threats. It is timely, therefore, to re-evaluate the 5th Edition of the ASPHER Core Competences for the Public Health Professional published in 2018, and to move towards agreeing a Core Curriculum in Public Health for academic and vocational training programmes that supports the attainment of competency according to existing Competency Frameworks and Essential Public Health Operations (EPHOs).

The Core Curriculum Programme relies on continuous connection, knowledge sharing and collegiality across many academic and public health practice sites across the globe both within and outside of the European region. The Programme is led by ASPHER Executive Board Member Mary Codd and ASPHER Fellow Karl Conyard.

One Health Conference – One Health for All, All for One Health

Organiser: Directorate General for Health and Food Safety

Date: 13 November 2023

Location: Luxemburg

Description: The recent epidemics and pandemics, in particular COVID-19, have made it unmistakably clear that human, animal, plant and environmental health cannot be dealt with separately, but need to be addressed in a 'One Health' approach. Their interdependencies need to be better acknowledged and require work at the interfaces in a multisectoral, transdisciplinary and an integrated approach.

Mainstreaming 'One Health' means that we can better prevent, predict, prepare for, detect, and respond to global health threats at both global and EU level. ASPHER Senior Climate and Health Lead Laurent Chambaud and Director Robert Otok joined the event.

Climate and Health survey: how climate and health knowledge and skills are integrated into academic public health

Organiser: Global Consortium on Climate and Health Education (GCCHE)

Date: Open during Autumn 2023

ASPHER partnered with GCCHE on the survey, calling on response from ASPHER members. Publication in press.

From analysis to action: Climate change litigation. A guide for public health professionals

Organiser: UK Faculty of Public Health

Date: November 2023

Description: Climate change is a public health emergency. The public health professional mandate requires not only the development of robust science and evidence, but also robust meaningful action. This guide therefore reflects input from multiple sources to assist public health professionals in supporting legal action that urges governments and the private sector to act now to address the climate crisis. Specifically, the guide: 1) Explains the phenomenon of climate change litigation for public health practitioners and provides an overview of key developments; 2) Identifies how the skills required to deliver compelling written and oral scientific evidence of human harms in climate change litigation can be grounded in public health competencies; and 3) Offers insights and lessons learned from prior climate change litigation, based all or in part on evidence of human harms. ASPHER supported drafting of the report (<https://www.fph.org.uk/media/iqkftmug/climate-litigation-report.pdf>).

Webinar: Strengthening Climate Change Education for the Public Health Workforce

Organiser: ASPHER

Date: 12 April 2023

Location: online

Description: During Global Public Health Week, we held a (slightly delayed) event on April 12th, Strengthening Climate Change Education for the Public Health Workforce, sharing developments from a global perspective. Invited speakers included Kristie Hadley (Global Consortium on Climate and Health Education), Mitsuo Sase (Planetary Health Report Card - Japan), and our own Chiara Cadeddu (Universita Cattolica del Sacro Cuore - Italy). Although there were some technical difficulties, it was a great session to learn about the global developments of integrating climate-change education. OTHER ACTIVITIES

ASPHER Digital Public Health Working Group

Organiser: ASPHER and Maastricht University (Rok Hrzic)

Dates March 2023 - Ongoing

Description: ASPHER established a working group focused on examining the impact of digital transformations on public health education and training. Since its inaugural meeting in March 2023, this working group has been led by Rok Hrzic, Assistant Professor at Maastricht University and an ASPHER Associate Fellow in digital public health. An early achievement of the group includes developing a set of principles for revising public health curricula considering digital transformations, showcased at the Deans' and Directors' Retreat in Dublin in September. Underpinning the working group's efforts is a four-pillar strategy encompassing reviewing public health curricula, identifying training needs arising from digital shifts, monitoring existing educational offerings, and reviewing digital skills certifications. Recently, the working group further expanded its scope by launching a subgroup dedicated to understanding the impact of social media on public health.

ASPHER Public Health Undergraduate Education Network Working Group

Organiser: ASPHER and Fulda University of Applied Sciences (Kai Michelsen)

Date: Ongoing

Description: Working group to address specific needs and requirements of Undergraduate programmes in public health and their students. The WG is an ongoing initiative and meets regularly.

ASPHER Public Health Doctoral Programme and Research Capacities Working Group

Organiser: ASPHER and ISPUP, University of Porto (Carla Lopes)

Date: Ongoing

Description: Training in research is an integral part of high-quality education in public health. Public health professionals working in research, education and/or in leadership positions have to base their decisions on current state-of-the-art research. They need profound skills in research methods and in the interpretation of research findings. Excellence in research will strengthen the role of schools of public health in Europe and secure funding. The vision is to create a European network in research training among ASPHER member schools. This network will foster exchange of PhD students throughout Europe. It will also promote research cooperation at the post-doctoral level.

ASPHER Working Group on Economic Evaluation in Healthcare in Europe

Organiser: ASPHER and Maastricht University (Milena Pavlova)

Date: Ongoing

Description: The ASPHER Working Group EEHE was launched on 2nd of July, 2019. The ultimate goal of the group is to establish the current status, future needs and good practices in teaching healthcare economic evaluation in Europe. The focus is on both course content and educational approaches, also encompassing the exchange of best practices and know-how. The group activities help to diffuse knowledge on healthcare economic evaluation or public health programmes, including economic evaluation as a core element. This is an ongoing initiative.

Date: 12–13 December 2023

Location: Tallinn, Estonia

On 12–13 December 2023 WHO/Europe and the Ministry of Social Affairs of Estonia will co-host a high-level health systems conference titled “Trust and transformation: resilient and sustainable health systems for the future” to commemorate 15 years of the Tallinn Charter: Health Systems for Health and Wealth. Adopted in 2008 by all WHO European Region Member States, the Tallinn Charter recognized that health, health systems and economic development are closely intertwined, and that spending on health was an investment rather than a cost. The Charter reaffirmed countries’ support for universal health coverage (UHC) and enshrined solidarity, equity and participation as shared values which underpin European health systems. Adopted in a social and economic climate that differs greatly from today’s, the Charter addressed the needs of the time.

ASPHER President-Elect Henrique Barros joined the event together with ASPHER Director Robert Otok and presented the Association perspective in the session on civil society and youth participation for trust and health systems transformation.

Population Health Information Research Infrastructure (PHIRI) Three Year Anniversary

Organiser: Sciensano

Date: 22 September 2023

Description: PHIRI, building on the BRIDGE Health project and the Joint Action Infact, facilitates and generates the best available evidence for research on the health and well-being of populations impacted by COVID-19. PHIRI has been running for three years bringing together key experts in health information across Europe from 30 countries and 41 organisations. On the 22nd of September, PHIRI had its final event in Brussels, where key topics were discussed that are at the core of its activities. The PHIRI Rapid Exchange Forum: PHIRI will showcase the experience of its Rapid Exchange Forum and how it allows to provide a rapid exchange of information across countries during crisis times (COVID-19) and in peacetime. ASPHER Director Robert Otok participated along with colleagues from NOVA University Lisbon and the European Observatory to offer insights for the panel on 'Strengthening the European Health Workforce'. VAX-ACTION

Coordinator: IHTM, NOVA University Lisbon

Dates: December 2023 – ongoing

ASPHER Role: Partner

Description: The VAX-ACTION project 'effectively tackling vaccine hesitancy in Europe', was recommended for co-funding by the European Union through the EU4 Health Programme (EU4HP). The project is made up of a consortium of ASPHER member schools and coordinated by the Institute of Hygiene and Tropical Medicine (IHMT), NOVA University Lisbon under the lead of Global Health and Tropical Medicine Professor and Researcher Tiago Correia. The main objective of VAX-ACTION is to support EU Member States and relevant stakeholders to implement a combination of tailored, evidence-based interventions aimed to reduce vaccine hesitancy. The combination will be based on evaluation of effectiveness of interventions that build on the existing evidence. Attending to the objectives of the call, interventions will be conducted with selected target regions in 5 EU member states (Portugal, Italy, France, Romania, and Czechia). The recommendations for embedding improvement and change will be prioritised along with tailored dissemination and evaluation strategies. This will support scale up and translation to other member states, WHO European Region members and other countries where there have been gaps in implementation of evidence-based action to address vaccine hesitancy.
