

European Public Health Week - Young audience target activities

Date 14th May 2019

Event type: Online & In-person

Title: Register accessible places in your city using TravAble!

Description: The TravAble app will be on the go to register accessible places and services across Europe! Barriers in our environment remain a problem for the physically impaired. Information on accessible services, entertainment and facilities is also hard to find. The TravAble app shares accessibility information and makes it easy for users to plan ahead or navigate to nearby locations. Occupational therapist Ósk Sigurdardottir will share accessible places from Iceland live on Facebook. We hope you will join us and register places in your own city/country via the TravAble app and share them using #EUPHWtravable. Please visit the TravAble Facebook page to find out how to use the app - and don't forget to download it on your mobile phone.

Format: People across Europe will test the Travable App and share on social media what they have found. A live use from Reykjavik, Iceland will be shared on Facebook from 4 to 5 pm (GMT).

Start / end: All day (organisers' local time)

Location: All European countries

Specific location(s): Reykjavik, Iceland (hosting country)

Title: #mymental

Description We want to encourage young people across Europe to post on social media (Instagram & Twitter mainly) photos / videos or just tweets of what they do to look after their mental health - because just like physical health, mental health needs looking after too.

Format: Online campaign

Start / end: All day (organisers' local time)

Location: All European countries

Reach: Global
