

Thursday 16 July | 11:00-12:30

Oral presentations II: Pedagogical Methods in Public Health Education

Developing scenario-based exercises for boundary and interdisciplinary learning for undergraduate and professional education - J. De Boer

Exploring country demographic profile data sources: An exercise for students in health-related educational programmes - C. O'Rourke

Integrating Podcasts into Postgraduate Assessment: Reflections from an Educator - G. Carleton-Boylan

Public Health contents and pedagogical approaches in Portuguese medical schools: findings from a nominal group - M. Fialho

Teaching Public Health Through People–Space Interaction: An Interdisciplinary Course in Portugal - T. Leao

Comparing Community-Based and Community-Oriented Public Health Education Models: Evidence from Student Evaluations in a Turkish Medical School - M. N. Unver Simsek

Teaching Community-Oriented Primary Care in a Sixth-Year Public Health Internship: An 18-Year Experience at Dokuz Eylul University - E. Altuntas

Teaching Public Health in Medical Education: Experiential Learning through a Sixth-Year Internship at the University of Porto - R. Malheiro